Are you planning to quit smoking within the next 30 days?

Researchers at the University of Rhode Island want to learn about the impact of student pharmacists providing smoking cessation services to people interested in quitting

This research study is for adults 18 years and older.

Would the study be a good fit for me?

This study might be a good fit for you if:

- You use tobacco products on a regular basis
- You are interested in quitting smoking in the next 30 days

What would happen if I took part in the study?

Research is always voluntary!

If you decide to take part in the research study, you would:

- Meet with a student pharmacist for an interview to create an individual stop smoking plan
- Help choose which nicotine therapy might be right for you
- Agree to follow-up clinic visits, phone calls and surveys to assess your progress

There may be possible benefits if you take part in the study.

- Nicotine patches, gum or lozenges given at no cost to you
- Free follow-up, support, and monitoring

Want to take part or find out more?

To take part in this research study or for more information please contact study investigators at URIquit@gmail.com

The principal researcher for this study is Anita Jacobson, Pharm.D. at the University of Rhode Island College of Pharmacy
